

Important information regarding new version V2

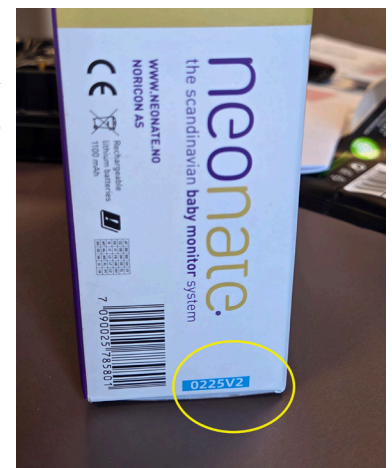

We are now receiving a new version of all our baby monitors (baby alarms, baby monitors), version 2 (V2). V2 is not compatible with previous versions of the baby monitors. Baby units and parent units from version 1 cannot be paired/connected to units from V2. The reason why previous versions (version 1) and the new version (V2) are not compatible is that a component (IC) that we have used on all models up to now has been discontinued.

How to identify version 2 on export carton, retail box and serial number:

On export carton.
If the box contains monitors with version 2, the Batch number with V2 at the end will be printed on the box..

On retail box
Look for a number followed by V2. The number is in white with a blue background.

In the serial number inside the battery compartment. Open the battery door and check the serial number on the small white sticker, it should say V2
